

Psychology Key Studies Jeopardy

Each of these answers relates to a key study from module 1 or 2. Can you think of what the questions would be?

To establish the duration of STM when rehearsal is prevented.

Controlled observation of 100 mothers and infants in the strange situation.

Lower ranking civil servants were more at risk of getting ill.

Telephone interviews with 1099 women about their experiences and symptoms.

Free recall declined steadily over time but recognition of names and photos did not.

Anorexia involves a heritable component and an environmental trigger.

A correlation of 0.118 between SRRS and health scores.

Stress causes a reduction in immune functioning, leaving people prone to illness.

To find out if stress, personality and heart disease are linked.

The story became shorter, more coherently structured and details altered.

Student PPs were asked questions about a video they had seen of a car accident.